Other New Officers Named

In Annual Election Thursday

Mrs. Dorothy Graham was elected worthy matron of the Pahokee chapter, Order of Eastern Star, at the annual election of officers held in the Masonic Temple last Thursday night.

Other new officers named for the coming year were S. J. Baggett, worthy patron; Mrs. Jaunita McLarty, associate matron; J. W. Barrett, associate patron; Mrs. Floreld Speer, secretary; Mrs. Verna Mae Schroder, treasurer; Mrs. Hulett Denton, conductress; Mrs. Aleese Cherry, associate conductress. Installation of new officers will be conducted at a special meeting on December 18.

Summarizing the year's work of the Chapter, Mrs. Cherry reported members had spent 2,331 hours at Red Cross sewing which resulted in the making of 531 garments with nine members receiving special awards for spending more than 100 on the work. Mrs. Iva Snyder reported sending 13 book and 150 magazines to the library O E S maintains at the state institution for the insane.

S. J. Baggett reported that the Chapter was sending two hampers of necessities to the Mason's home at St. Petersburg for Christmas and that a $10 donation and several pieces of linen were sent to the Homee during the past year. A $100 War Bond, recently purchased with surplus funds from the treasury was received at the meeting.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Lyons resigned as associate patron and associate matron because of difficulty in attending meetings due to gas rationing. Mrs. Lola Biakely was granted a permit for the transfer of her membership from the Pahokee to the Orlando chapter.

Mrs. Helen Alspaugh, retired worthy matron, gave a brief farewell address. A beautiful silk American flag was presented to the Chapter by the outgoing officers with Mrs. Aleese Cherry, marshal, assisted by Star Points, making the presentation in an impressive ceremony. The flag committee presented the Chapter with a plaque, hand made by E. S. Jackson, of West Palm Beach, on which was inscribed names of close relatives of chapter members now serving in the armed forces.

An invitation to attend the installation of officers of the Lake Worth Chapter on December 30 was read. Mrs. Alsbaugh, retiring mother, mother and Mr. Als-ing worthy matron, and Mr. Alspaugh, retiring worthy patron, presented gifts to the officers who worked under them during the past year. Gifts were exchanged among members from a Christmas tree decorated by the Star Points with Mrs. Alspaugh in charge. It was announced that Mrs. Greer, Mrs. Beck and Mrs. Wedgworth will serve refreshments at the next meeting.

Poison Squad Kills Many Rats

Clewiston, Fla., Dec. 17.—"Kill the dirty rats!" That's the battle-cry of the poison squad of the U. S. Sugar Corporation which has been carrying on its own private war here against field rats for the

In 1931 more than 31 per cent of the cane-sugar stalks were damaged by rats, and checks of some fields showed the damage ran as high as 75 per cent. Today, when sugar is needed for ammunition and a sugar-short nation, the damage is less than 1 per cent.

The year-round poison squad, composed of 30 men and women, has brought the rats under control with poison "torpedoes." Alkajoid, strychnine and thallium sulphate are alternately used in paraffin torpedoes and distributed throughout the fields. The rats eat the torpedoes and bam, that's the end of the rats, Jay W. Moran, vice-president of the company, said.

The poison squad is now wondering how it could distribute its torpedoes among the Japs.

RELIGION IN THE SCHOOLS

Over in Miami, Superintendent of Schools Wilson has stirred up some discussion by announcing that unless it is made mandatory he will not order compliance with a state board of education "request" for a 20-minute daily period of religious instruction devoted to "scriptures, prayers and hymns." In Fort Myers Superintendent Harry Hendry, when questioned about what would be done here, let it ride by saying that it was already in effect and was working out satisfactorily. To the extent that it is in effect he must be right about that because there is no evidence of objection and nothing will provoke a flare-up quicker than getting into somebody's religious hair.

That being true it suggests that the Miami superintendent is wise. Superintendent Hendry lucky and the state board of education entirely out of order in trying to impose on the schools a 20-minute period of religious practice. It might go along smoothly in one place and not in another; in one school, for that matter, and not in another in the same county. On a statewide scale this jeopardy is magnified. Conflicts in Florida are obviously different. Miami is one kind of town, Fort Myers another, and Tampa, unlike either. Even cities of the same size are often radically different; for examples, Tarpon Springs with its predominantly Greek population and Lake City, of old line cracker ancestry. In the higher brackets Orlando is probably about a standard community while St. Petersburg, in the same population class, has been infiltrated by a lot of rather queer religions, some of them borderline on the buggy. Lakeland has a denominational college with rather distinguishes itself from the quick tempo of Fort Lauderdale. It may be that most places, like Fort Myers, could sing their hymns in harmony, say their prayers without sectarian friction and take their scripture reading in stride but there are more than a few spots that wouldn't and those are the ones the state board of education is making trouble for.

Even in communities which are conditioned for it the matter must be handled with gloves, as experienced teachers like Superintendent Hendry and many on his staff will readily testify. There is a state law which requires that every session of the public schools be opened by reading from the Bible. By tricks of elocution which ministers commonly employ—such as voice inflection and word emphasis—a different meaning can be given to the same Biblical passage. Competent teachers have learned to beware of that. Those who are unvarying often find to their dismay that pupils go home to tell their parents that they are being taught a version of the scripture that conflicts with family convictions. And we betide a teacher who tries to point a moral by quoting from the Bible. There is good chance that some irate parent will hurry down to tell her that she got the Word all wrong.

Teachers are not the only ones who run into that. Editors hear it often and are safe from arguments only when they run a "daily Bible quotation" in a place apart, letting the words speak for themselves in cold type. Even so, significance is sometimes read into an inadvertent selection and subscribers have been known to complain that it was published to rebuke them for something the editor had no reason to suspect. As for venturing an interpretive application, that is a better way of getting into hot water than the methods sometimes noted here, which are plenty effective, you can be assured. In any case when an editor, teacher or public speaker gets into an ecclesiastical jam he is proaching on the preacher's preserves. That belongs in the denominational pulpit.—Fort Myers News-Press.

State, city and county officials and various groups of citizens, concerned with their own special interests, are largely responsible. One of the favorite practices, West contends, particularly in connection with bills of vital importance, and which are apt to have active opposition, has been to withhold the bill or legislative action until toward the end of the session and then attempt to shove it through at a time when members are overworked, confused or disgusted, with the result that the most important matters of the session are not given proper or careful consideration.

To obviate this situation, West suggests a convening of the House and Senate in informal caucus 30 or 60 days prior to the session, at which all groups and individuals interested in legislation be urged to submit their bills through their Senators or Representatives, typed and in complete form; that a committee be delegated to circumscribe all bills and submit copies to all members, the press and interested citizens for study; then set up stringent rules against the introduction of bills other than those so submitted and prohibit introduction of any new bills after the end of the second week of the session except by unanimous consent.

West expresses the belief that if this suggestion is carried out it would be possible for the legislature to complete its work in 30 days and at the same time insure all important measures being given the proper consideration by both the legislature and the public. L. A. Treler, representative from Marion county, followed West with an alternate plan, revealed in a letter to Speaker Designate Simpson last week.

Expressing himself in hearty agreement with the theme and objects as discussed in West's letter, Treler questions the possibility of arranging a preliminary caucus due to the attendant travel and expense which would fall on individual members.

"Doubtless," he states, "there would be some members who would not be able to attend such a caucus, and I feel that their rights to some extent would be prejudicial thereby. Why not promulgate a rule, upon convening of the legislature, that no bills could be introduced after a lapse of 24 days from the date of convening? This procedure would obviate the necessity of a preliminary caucus and still would permit ample time for the introduction of bills with as much time as needed for debate. Also it would be possible to wind up the session in a shorter time than it has heretofore required."

Treler said that his suggestion was made in view of the present restrictions on travel facilities and was "in no wise intended to obstruct the very good suggestion of Mr. West."

Speaker Designate Simpson has given ample evidence of his sincere desire to effect every possible economy during the coming session and it is gratifying to find individual members of the House concerning themselves in the same direction. The suggestions advanced by both West and Treler deserve careful consideration, not only from legislative members but from citizens and taxpayers as well.

Anyone familiar with legislative sessions knows that there is plenty of room for improvement, both from the standpoint of time saving and economy of operation. If the people really WANT such action and make their wants known to their representatives, they will get

PLEASE REMEMBER

RAILROAD EQUIPMENT IS LIMITED

Large quantities of railroad passenger equipment are now employed in moving the nation's armed forces. This leaves fewer cars available for civilian use than formerly could be supplied.

SERVICE MEN MUST BE ACCOMMODATED

This year thousands of men in uniform are away from home. Many will be granted leaves. Their needs and those of other essential travel have had call on accommodations.

TRAVEL MAY BE HEAVIER THAN USUAL

Service men and war workers on leave, the tire shortage and gasoline rationing—all add up to heavier holiday travel than usual by rail. But unfortunately less equipment is available to handle it.

On some days just before, after and including Christmas and New Years, it may prove impossible to accommodate everyone. So unless your trip is essential, better avoid the holiday period. Help make room for those who are serving the nation and MUST travel then.

TOO LATE TO CLASSIFY

By Russell Kay

The though advanced some time ago that it might be possible to hold the coming legislative session to 30 days, while receiving general approval from public and press, failed to gain momentum or arouse any enthusiasm when the legislative group gathered for its session in Gainesville. It appears, however, that the issue is far from dead and that certain members of the legislature are sincere in their desire to effect every possible economy. In a recent letter to Speaker Designate Richard H. Simpson, Franklin West, representative from Santa Rosa county, points out that the situation responsible for waste of time is the enormous amount of political trading and

"First With The New"

Cinematic Chatter . . .

—By MALCOLM MILLER—
What The Movies Have To Offer During The Coming Week.

It looks as if old Sam is bringing a bag full of interesting shows.

"I am a SOLDIER of the Wires"

"With the approaching holidays, I am thinking more and more of the problems which confront us operators in getting Uncle Sam's war calls through, so I decided to speak right out and ask for the help I feel sure everyone is willing to give."

"You know that we operators have a real job to do for Uncle Sam. Every day we put through countless calls from growing Army camps, humming war industries and busy government agencies—calls that we 'soldiers of the wires' know must go through—calls that speed our Nation on to Victory!"

"This December, war will take no holiday and Uncle Sam will be using the telephone more than ever. Therefore, we operators are asking you to help us by not making holiday greetings long distance calls this year. We urge that no such calls be made, especially on Christmas Eve, Christmas Day or New Year's Eve."

"I know it is asking a lot, but Uncle Sam surely needs these long distance lines and when he needs them—it's right over! I know we can count on your cooperation."

SOUTHERN BELL TELEPHONE AND TELEGRAPH COMPANY

for the Prince and Everglades theatres this coming week.

Leading on at the old Prince music hall will be "Joan of Ozark" for a Sunday-Morning, featuring Joe E. Brown, Judy Canova, Eddie Foy, Jr. and Anne Jefferey.

With these two prime favorites of the cinematic fun factory teamed together with a swell story that is packed with laughs and thrills, together with Judy's new song hits, this show should jar the rafters loose at the old movie house when a hysterical audience lets loose yells after yells of delight. Heilichgruber will get a shock when his hand of noisy Nazis hit a snag (named Judy) in Hollywood's latest comedy. If you're out for laughs don't miss it!

On Tuesday the radio fans will have the time of their lives when "Here We Go Again," starring Fibber McGee and Molly and Edgar Bergen with Charlie McCarthy, and featuring The Great Gilday, Ginny Simm, Bill Thompson, Gene Gordon, Isabel Randolph as "Uppity," Mortimer Snerd, and Ray Noble and his Hand-Comb rumples into the show house.

They have never put a greater cast of radio favorites into a picture than in this one, and it can be safely said they have never given them a better story, with yells after yells of laughter.

"Here We Go Again" brings back Fibber McGee and Molly in their same radio characters and provides scenes in the famous mythical town of Wicketville as well as the site of their honeymoon 20 years ago. Once more Molly brings back her famous characterization of "Sis," the little girl who is heard at her radio program and who, up until the McGees made their film debut, was believed to be a separate personality. You must see this one!

On the Wednesday - Thursday set-up I'm picking "Tomahawk," billed as the "town too tough to die." It stars Richard Dix, Kent Taylor, Edgar Buchanan, with Francis Clifford, Don Castle, Clem

Byrnes and Victor Jory. In this job you will meet the tightest of us-shall who ever pumped a six-gun, and who challenges the murder rule of the men too tough for Dodge City, who proved the West was wrong when it said, "The man who's head of Tomahawk will have a tomahawk at his head."

I'm not strong for the show that teams with this one. It is "Merry Plans" and stars James Dunn and Francis Clifford. From all reports and from the cast and story of this show I will say it will be a pie that you'll eat through because you came to see the other one—and that's all I'll say about it.

On the Friday double feature you have two pics that are different in every respect. I'll take "It Happened in Flatbush" first—because it is the first on the list before me. It stars Lloyd Noland and Carolee Landis, with a cast of recognized featured players and it is definitely a comedy in every way.

"It Happened in Flatbush" is a baseball story and is one of the best that has ever been written on this sport. You'll enjoy this even though you're not a baseball fan. "When Bessie Rans" is an action thriller with the U.S. Ma-lines and hand saboteurs linked together in a novel story, featuring Richard Travis and Julie Bishop with a good surrounding cast and dramatic action that will raise the hair on your toupe when the many fast-paced scenes flash across the screen.

Members of the Six Shooter club will be happy to hear that for your Saturday trip out into the vast wide open spaces you will sit through "Below the Border" with the Rough Riders shooting their way to victory against bandits of the old West.

Before I sign off, a very Merry Christmas to all my readers and a prayer for all "my boys" fighting around the globe for Victory. See you at the movies. . . Mal.

Poultry Industry Grows In Florida

Tallahassee, Fla., Dec. 17.—The State Marketing Bureau Tuesday predicted that the Florida poultry industry's total production for 1942 would amount to 24,467,000 dozen eggs and 16,100,000 pounds of meat.

The bureau estimated that the value of poultry meat and eggs produced would amount to more than $125,000,000.

F. W. Fisher reported in the bureau bulletin that federal statistics show an increase of about 1,650,000 eggs each month this year over the same month in 1941, which is near the increase asked by the secretary of agriculture in the "Food for Freedom" program. Fisher said the increased production this year, added to a normal annual total of 23,300,000 dozen eggs, will put the 1942 crop close to 24,467,000 dozen. That will mean about $200,000 more income from egg sales, he declared. "At the high prices prevailing in 1942, the value of eggs alone produced in Florida will be close to $8,159,000. The production of poultry meat, fowl and turkey probably will amount to 16,100,000 pounds, with a value of $4,450,000."

"A lot of the added valuation comes from the fact that eggs and poultry meats are priced higher than at any time since the boom days following war number one."
